Kasih Food Production Co. signed a Cooperation Agreement with Afaaq for Education; a charitable organization aimed at providing financial and support to students in need.

Where by Kasih established at Afaaq a student loan fund to enable university students to pursue their education.

This initiative highlights Kasih Food Production Co.'s commitment to supporting the Jordanian community, not only by providing high-quality food products but also by investing in the future of upcoming generations through enabling them to access the education they deserve.

Through this collaboration with Afaaq for Education, we aim to present a model of social responsibility, where the private sector works alongside non-profit organizations to achieve national goals. This partnership will also help raise awareness about the importance of education and provide the necessary support for talented and ambitious students, preparing them for future opportunities and enabling their active participation in the development of Jordanian society.

We are optimistic that this initiative will open new horizons for a large number of students and contribute to strengthening the development and prosperity of the Kingdom.
